Joy Lane Primary School is committed to inspiring children, staff, parents and the community in the active pursuit of learning. A child's learning is truly valued and the achievements and contributions of the whole school community are recognised and celebrated.

At Joy Lane Primary School we pride ourselves on providing an inclusive education which enables all children to reach their full potential. Our aim is to ensure that all individuals feel they can succeed and feel safe and happy at school. Information about the policy for identification and assessment of pupils with SEN

At Joy Lane Primary School we monitor the progress of all pupils termly to review their academic progress. We also use a range of assessments with pupils at various points e.g. Y1 phonics screening, end of Key Stage SATs, end of term assessments, speech link, language link, reading age and individual pupil assessment according to the child's potential barrier to learning.

Where progress is not sufficient, even if special educational need has not been identified, we put in place extra support to enable the pupil to catch up. Examples of extra support include daily reading, phonics support, Speech and Language programmes, in class English and Maths interventions and fine and gross motor skills support.

Some pupils may continue to make inadequate progress, despite high-quality teaching targeted at their areas of weakness. For these pupils, and in consultation with parents, we will use a range of assessments and work with external professionals and advisors to determine the cause of the learning difficulty.

The purpose of this more detailed assessment is to understand what additional resources and different approaches are required to enable the pupil to make better progress. These will be shared with parents, put onto an intervention Provision Map and reviewed regularly where they will be refined / revised if necessary. Some children with more complex and higher level needs will require an Individual Provision Map (IPM). At this point we will have identified that the pupil has a special educational need because the school is making special educational provision for the pupil which is additional and different to what is usually available.

If the pupil is able to make good progress using this additional and different resource (but would not be able to maintain this good progress without it) we will continue to identify the pupil as having a special educational need. If the pupil is able to maintain good progress without the additional and different resources he or she will not be identified with special educational needs. When any change in identification of SEN is changed parents will be notified.

We will ensure that all teachers and support staff who work with the pupil are aware of the support to be provided and the teaching approaches to be used.

How the school evaluates the effectiveness of its provision for such pupils

Reviews of Provision Maps and IPM's will be informed by the views of the pupil, parents and teachers and the assessment information from teachers which will show whether adequate progress is being made.

The SEN Code of Practice (2014, 6.17) describes inadequate progress thus:

- Is significantly slower than that of their peers starting from the same baseline
- Fails to match or better the child's previous rate of progress
- Fails to close the attainment gap between rate of progress
- Widens the attainment gap

For pupils with a statement of special educational needs / Education, Health and Care Plan there will be an annual review of the statement of SEND/EHCP, which will enable an evaluation of the effectiveness of the special provision for the child. The collation of all annual review evaluations of effectiveness will be reported to the SEN Governor.

The school's arrangements for assessing and reviewing the progress of pupils with special educational needs

Every pupil in the school has their progress tracked termly. In addition to this, pupils with special educational needs may have additional assessments.

If these assessments do not show adequate progress is being made the Provision Map and/or the IPM will be reviewed and adjusted.

How the school enables pupils with special educational needs to engage in activities of the school (including physical activities) together with children who do not have special educational needs

All clubs, trips and activities offered to pupils at Joy Lane Primary School are available to pupils with special educational needs and disability either with or without a statement of special educational needs / Education, Health and Care Plan. Where it is necessary, the school will use the resources available to it to provide additional adult support to enable the safe participation of the pupil in the activity.

Information about how equipment and facilities to support children and young people with special educational needs will be secured

Where external advisors recommend the use of equipment or facilities which the school does not have, we will aim to purchase it using the notional SEN funding, or seek it by loan. For highly specialist communication equipment the school will seek the advice of the KCC Communication and Assistive Technology team.

The arrangements for consulting parents of children with special educational needs about, and involving them in, their education

All parents of pupils at Joy Lane School are invited to discuss the progress of their children at least twice a year. In addition we are happy to arrange meetings outside these times. As part of our normal teaching arrangements, all pupils will access some additional teaching to help them catch-up if the progress monitoring indicates that this is necessary; this will not imply that the pupil has a special educational need.

If following this normal provision, improvements in progress are not seen, we will contact parents to discuss the use of internal or external assessments which will help us to understand these needs better. From this point onwards the pupil may be identified as having special educational needs because special educational provision is being made and the parent will be invited to planning and reviews of this provision.

In addition to this, parents of pupils with a statement of SEN / Education, Health and Care Plan will be invited to contribute to and attend an annual review, which, wherever possible will also include other agencies involved with the pupil. Information will be made accessible for parents.

The arrangements for consulting young people with special educational needs about, and involving them in, their education

When a pupil has been identified to have special educational needs because special educational provision is being made for him or her, the pupil will be consulted about and involved in the arrangements made for them as part of child-centred planning. Parents are likely to play a more significant role in the childhood years with the young person taking more responsibility and acting with greater independence in later years.

Information about the expertise and training of staff in relation to children and young people with special educational needs and how specialist expertise will be secured

This academic year teachers and teaching assistants have had training in safeguarding children and use of ICT. There have been various courses to support children and their identified needs such as anxiety support, clever hands, sensory circuits, supporting the sensory challenged child, autism and attachment, drawing therapy and ELSA support. There are many more scheduled for the remainder of the year which include supporting children with dyslexia and weak working memory.

We are also incredibly lucky to have our own Speech and Language support assistants. Paula Ames and Julie Elbourn are both HLTAs who have had extensive training and support from Speech and Language therapists.

Where a training need is identified beyond this we work to find a provider who is able to deliver it. Training providers we can approach are; special schools, specialist teachers, educational psychologist, speech and language therapist, occupational therapists, physiotherapists, dyslexia specialists etc. SEND training is included in the school training budget.

How the governing body involves other bodies, including health and social services bodies, local authority support services and voluntary organisations, in meeting the needs of pupils with special educational needs and in supporting the families of such pupils

The governing body have engaged with the following bodies:-

- Free membership of LIFT for access to specialist teaching and learning service

The arrangements made by the governing body relating to the treatment of complaints from parents of pupils with special educational needs concerning the provision made at the school

The normal arrangements for the treatment of complaints at Joy Lane Primary School are used for complaints about provision made for special educational needs. We encourage parents to discuss their concerns with the class teacher, a member of the Inclusion Team or the Head Teacher to resolve the issue before making the complaint formal to the Chair of the Governing Body.

If the complaint is not resolved after it has been considered by the Governing Body, then a disagreement resolution service or mediation service can be contracted. If it remains unresolved after this, the complainant can appeal to the First-tier Tribunal (Special Educational Needs and Disability), if the case refers to disability discrimination, or to the Secretary of State for all other cases.

There are some circumstances, usually for children who have a Statement of SEN where there is a statutory right for parents to appeal against a decision of the Local Authority. Complaints which fall within this category cannot be investigated by the school.
